

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

J.A. UNIFORM'S ULYSSES GARCIA NAMED RISING STAR AT

NORTH AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF UNIFORM MANUFACTURERS AND DISTRIBUTORS CONVENTION

NEW ORLEANS, (April 10, 2019) – J.A. Uniforms sales manager Ulysses Garcia was presented a Rising Star Young Leadership Award by the North American Association of Uniform Manufacturers and Distributors (NAUMD) at its annual convention this week in New Orleans.

A nod to Garcia's professional achievements, the award is given to those who set new standards for the support and growth of the uniform industry.

"I'm energized by the recognition," said Garcia following the NAUMD awards dinner. "It's a great honor and a privilege."

"Ulysses personifies the Rising Star Young Leadership Award. His winning of this award represents the future of the industry and will set new standards for the support and growth of the industry," said NAUMD President Steve Zalkin. "Ulysses is laying the foundation for the industry to continue to innovate, grow and inspire future generations of young leaders."

ABOUT NAUMD: NAUMD is the trade association for the uniform and image apparel industry. Its membership is composed of the entire uniform supply chain: distributors, manufacturers, fabric mills and associated suppliers. For more information, visit <http://www.naumd.com>.

ABOUT J.A. UNIFORMS: Dating to 1997, J.A. Uniforms' passion for uniforms stems from a recognition of the benefits its products yield employers, their employees and their clients. Long-lasting yet fashionable, its uniforms enjoy a modern style esthetic that values comfort while maintaining a sharp look. For more information visit www.jauniforms.com.

Media Contact: Xavier Dominicis, Phone: 214.708.7980, email: Xdominicis@jauniforms.com